

Sausage Surprise – Class 2D

Once upon a time there was a hotdog, and one day the sausage from the hotdog escaped. The sausage was bored of being inside the hot dog bread and wanted to go on an adventure.

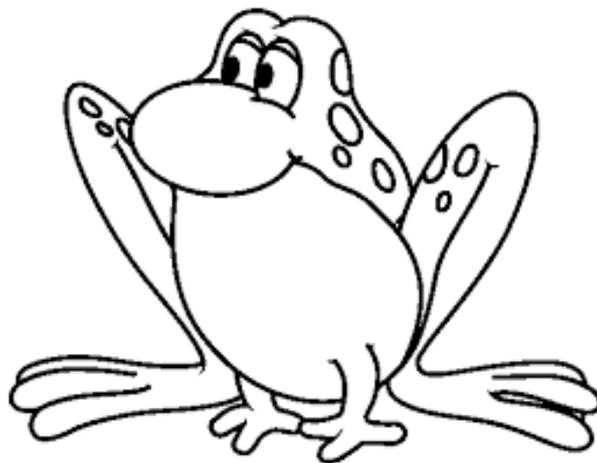

From inside the hotdog truck the sausage had seen a poster promising fun and adventure and decided to escape in search of it.

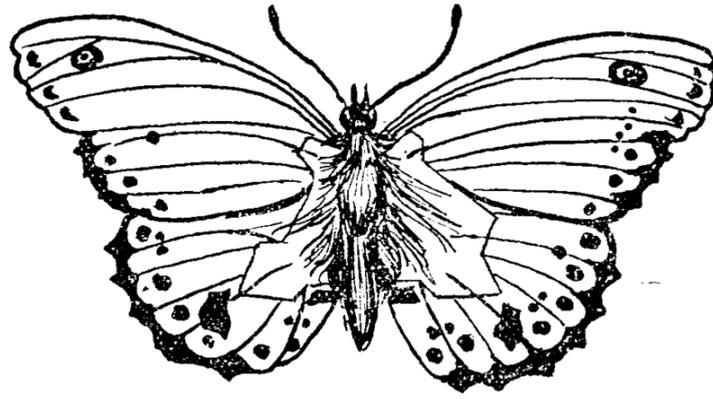

On his way he met another sausage - a girl - and they went in a little boat on a lake.

A short while later, the sausages met a frog. What they didn't know was that the frog was planning to eat them.

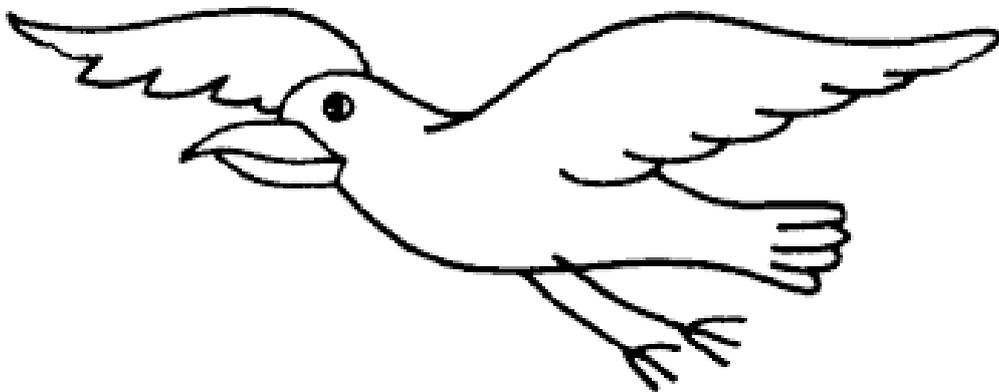

The frog jumped into the boat and the sausage boy saved the sausage girl by calling a butterfly to help them.

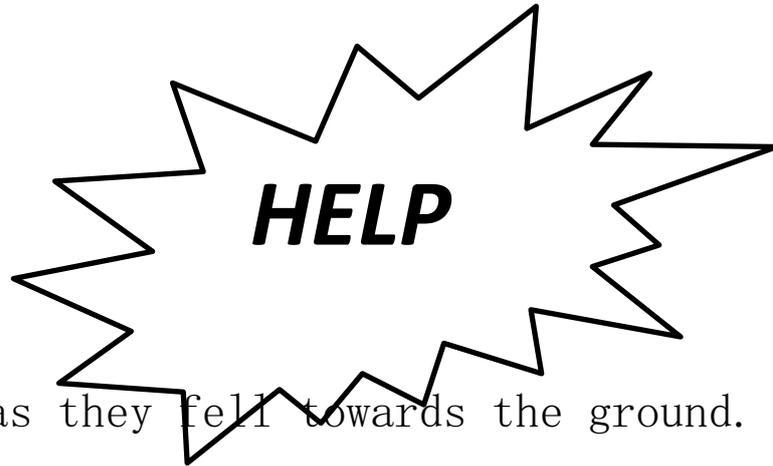

The butterfly flew high in the sky with them and the two sausages were very happy again on their adventures.

A bird was flying nearby and saw the sausages. Birds like to eat worms and sausages look like very big worms. The bird was hungry and flew directly towards the butterfly to take the sausages. When the butterfly saw the bird flying towards him he dropped the sausages and quickly flew away.

Because the sausages didn't know how to fly they were shouting loudly as they fell towards the ground.

The two sausages were very relieved when they landed safely on a mushroom. They stood up, looked around and saw flowers, roses and lots of trees.

The sausages began to walk along the path when, suddenly, a wolf stepped onto the path in front of them. The wolf smiled at them and invited them to his house for a cup of tea. What the sausages didn't know was that the wolf was tricking them and wanted to eat them.

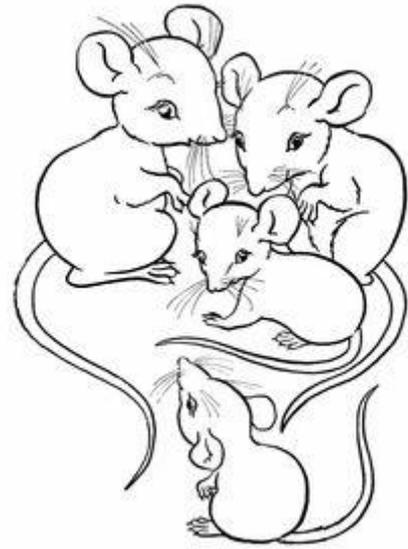

When they arrived at the wolf's house they saw two hotdog breads and ketchup and realised that the wolf was going to eat them! They tied the wolf to a chair and ran out of the house quickly.

The sausages decided that going on adventures was dangerous and scary and they decided to go home.

Unfortunately, the sausages didn't know the way home. They were very sad and started to cry.

A mouse heard them crying and decided to help them. The mouse called all of its family and together they helped the sausages to get home.

The sausages had enough adventures and were happy to be home. All the other sausages were happy that they were home also and had a very big party to celebrate.
