

The Magic Book – Class 2B

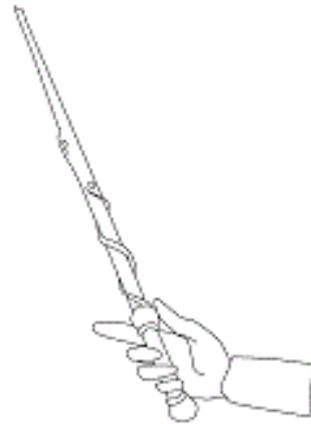

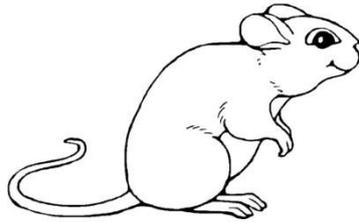

Once upon a time a young girl was drawing in a book in her house. When she had finished, she told her mother, “I have finished my picture.”

The girl didn't know that the book was magic and had arms and legs. When the girl was sleeping the magic book ran away and went to another house.

The book didn't realize that it had gone to an evil witch's cottage. The witch waved her magic wand over the magic book and it turned into a mouse.

Quickly, the witch's cat gobbled up the little mouse.

Suddenly, the cat transformed into a mouse, then transformed into a dog and then the dog ran out the door.

The witch was sad that her cat was gone so she chased after the dog. She jumped on her broomstick and flew out the window to follow it. The people on the streets were surprised when they saw the witch racing past them.

Finally, the witch spotted the dog and tried to catch it. When the evil witch returned to her cottage, the dog transformed once more into the magic book.

The book flew into the air and up the chimney.

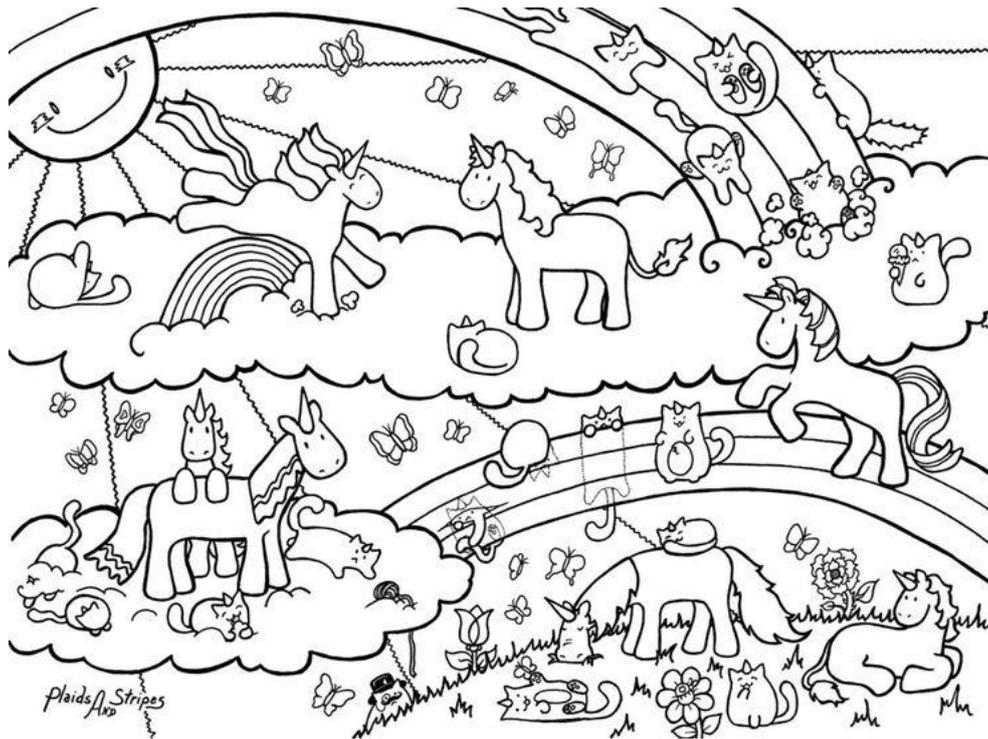

It flew high over the rooftops until it came to a good witch's house.

The good witch opened the book and looked at the drawing. The drawing was of a magical land with magical creatures. In the magical land you could eat everything and it was delicious.

The good witch cast a spell and when the young girl woke up she was in the magical land that she had drawn and started eating everything.

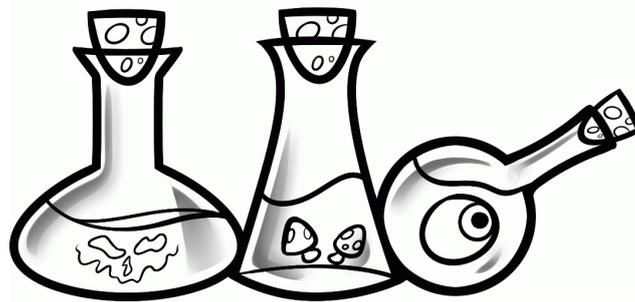

The girl met a magical creature living in a fountain. The creature could change colour, become invisible and was a very good dancer. The creature showed the girl how to do lots of crazy dances.

In the magical land the girl found the witch's cat and decided to bring it back to the evil witch. Even though the witch was evil she wanted to bring the cat to her so that she would be happy.

The girl ate some sweets that gave her magic flying powers. She flew high over the rooftops with the cat in her arms.

She saw the evil witch's cottage and she knocked on the door. The witch was very happy to get her cat back. To thank the girl she gave her a magic potion that brought her back to the magical land whenever she wanted.

The girl was very happy and when she got home she drew lots of pictures of new magical lands to visit using the witch's potion.

The evil witch and the girl became very good friends and the girl visited her house often to play with the witch's cat.

